From Fr. JC Maximilian's Desk "The Mystery of the Transfiguration"

As I continue to share reflections of Blessed Dom. Columba Marmion on Lent, it would be good to also continue to share something about who he was. He was born in Dublin, Ireland on April 1, 1858 and given the name Joseph. His father was an Irishman, and his mother was French. Despite his French mother, Dom. Marmion did not learn much French as a child.

The family was very pious, and in 1874 Blessed Marmion entered the Diocesan seminary in Dublin. His intellectual giftedness was recognized, so he was sent to the Pontifical Irish College in Rome. While studying in Rome, he made a trip to Monte Cassino, the famous monastery started by St. Benedict, the Father of Western Monasticism. This began Dom. Marmion's interest in the Benedictines. During his trips between Dublin and Rome, he frequently visited the Benedictine Abbey of Maredsous in Belgium. He felt a very strong attraction to that monastery, and after his ordination to the priesthood in Rome in 1891, as traveled back to Dublin, he stayed at the Abbey and had a mystical experience where he heard the voice of Jesus say to him, "It is here I want you."

However, it would take time before Dom. Marmion would be able to follow that voice. Arriving in Dublin, his Archbishop would not give him permission to enter religious life. As a diocesan priest he was assigned to a parish outside of Dublin, and did the work that diocesan priests do: celebrate Mass, hear confessions, visited the sick, instructed the faithful. He did ministry in a hospital, was the chaplain to a convent of nuns, and eventually became a professor at the diocesan seminary. After five years ministering as a diocesan priest, the archbishop finally gave him permission to enter the Abbey of Maredsous in Belgium in November, 1896.

Next week I will share some about Blessed Marmion's life as a Benedictine, but for now let me share a prayer he wrote, "Prayer to Christ in the Mystery of the Transfiguration" (Christ in His Mysteries , pp. 230, 233-37):

Christ Jesus, Eternal Word, Divine Master, You are the splendour of the Father and the brightness of His substance; You Yourself have said: "If anyone loves Me, I will manifest Myself to him," grant that we may love You fervently so that we may receive from You an intenser light upon Your Divinity; for, as You again told us, the secret of our life, of everlasting life, is to know that our Heavenly Father is the one true God, and that You are His Christ, sent here below to be our King and the High Priest of our salvation. Enlighten the eyes of our souls with a ray of those divine splendours that shone on Thabor, so that our faith in Your divinity, our hop in Your merits, and our love for Your adorable Person may be thereby strengthened and increased.

Yea, Father, I believe these words, I will repeat them after Thee: this Jesus Who is within me through faith, through Communion, is Thy son; and because Thou hast said it, I believe it; and because I believe it, I adore Thy Son, so as to render Him my homage; and by Him, in Him, so likewise to render to Thee, O Heavenly Father, in union with Thy Spirit, all honour and all glory. Amen.

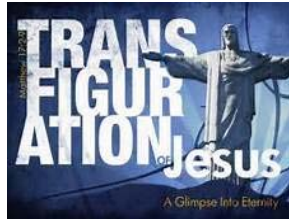

Reflect on the Word of Jesus Christ

2nd Sunday of Lent

Matthew 17: 1-9

A Glimpse of Our Future!

What does the word Transfigured mean? It means to change something radically in order to honor it. The Apostles were use to seeing the human Jesus as a person like them. Now they were given the great honor of seeing the divine Jesus, and hearing God say that Jesus is the "Beloved Son."

From the beginning of this passage we know that this event is so important! Jesus takes three of the disciples to the top of the mountain. These are the same three he will take with him when he goes to pray in the Garden before this death. They must have been very special to him. Think about who you would like to have with you in happy and or sad times with you. Will these people help your Faith grow or fade away?

The Transfiguration gives us a glimpse of our future when we will join our bodies to the glorified body of Jesus. Just as Jesus entered into his glory through suffering, we must expect the same. This vision of our future leads us to speak about this promise given to all who believe. We must be witnesses to this with our very lives.

Adult: Jesus you are my beloved; without you I am nothing. Be with me, I beg you and help me to adore, to love, to serve you and all your people.

Child: Jesus may I come to know you as God's beloved Son, the one who brings us to eternal life in heaven..

Give Alms!*
